The Sun and The Moon

Author: Dropti Sharma

Illustrators: Greystroke, Niloufer Wadia, Partho Sengupta, Priyanka Kumar, Tapas Guha

Translator: Zubin Miller

It's morning.

The sun is out.

Rising in the east...

setting in the west.

A dark blue night sky with a nebula and stars. The nebula is a colorful, ethereal cloud of gas and dust, primarily in shades of purple, blue, and teal. It has a soft, glowing appearance with some darker, more defined regions. Scattered throughout the sky are numerous stars of varying sizes and brightness. Some are large, bright white stars, while others are smaller, dimmer white dots. A few stars are faintly visible in the background, appearing as small, light-colored specks. The overall scene is a serene and beautiful representation of a starry night sky.

It's night now...

and the moon
is out.

Sometimes a half moon...

sometimes a full moon!

But how do they change so soon?
